IDS Update

New Course: HRLR 289

MSU's School of Human Resources and Labor Relations is proud to offer the new online course Navigating the World of Work for the summer semester. This course will increase students’ understanding of the changing workplace and ability to manage their careers after college. Topics include: current human resource strategies, pay and benefits, labor relations, hot careers, and managing the dual demands of work and family.

This is an excellent course for those interested in learning more about the work world and navigating their career after college. Students will learn from faculty at MSU’s School of Human Resources and Labor Relations, which is one of the top schools in the country offering a Masters degree in Human Resources and Labor Relations.

For more information Contact Cheryl Mollitor at mollitor@msu.edu or 517-355-3285.

MSUFCU Offering Scholarships for Internships

Career Services is working with MSUFCU again to provide students who have secured or are actively pursuing a qualified internship a $1,000 scholarship with 40 awards to be given for summer internships! There is an online application for students to use this year – please take advantage of this tool. Last year had the highest number of student applicants, but only a few scholarships were awarded. TIP: an effective essay is essential to win an award. Articulating need, expected or intended tasks, and long-term goals, are key.

Application deadline is Friday, March 29 at 5:00pm.
Undergraduate Research Opportunities

For students interested in applied research, don’t let this opportunity pass by. See http://socialscience.msu.edu/asa/scholarships.html

Spartan Links heads to Grand Rapids

Spartan Links, “On the Road to Grand Rapids, Michigan” invites interested students to come and learn more about “Science and Health Related Career Areas and Opportunities”

Friday, March 22nd from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Enjoy your Friday with the Spartan Links on the Road to Grand Rapids event! You will have the opportunity to tour the Van Andel Institute and the Secchia Center and learn more about science and health related career paths. Free travel and admission to all events. (Go to My Spartan Career-click on Events-Workshops for details and to sign up). RSVP required. Contact Brian Telfor, telfor@msu.edu or Jill Cords, jcords@msu.edu for more information.

Careers for the Information Age

The Master of Arts program consists of two concentrations (Human Computer Interaction and Media and Information Management) with multiple courses of study and cognate options.

The growing areas of social media, games, and online technology applications are creating exciting new careers in the information age. The Master of Arts programs in the Department of Telecommunication, Information Studies and Media at Michigan State University prepares you to manage information technology, to create original interactive content, and to contribute to the ongoing debate about the roles communication media can play in society.

More information – http://tism.msu.edu/ma